Gala Jubilee Homecoming Attracts Large Crowd

As the strains of music by Freddy Martin and his orchestra faded away, Saturday night, Southern's Diamond Jubilee Homecoming weekend drew to a close. The three-day celebration was one of Southern's biggest and best Homecomings.

The kick-off for the celebration was given in an assembly on Thursday morning when the planning committee and queen candidates were introduced. Officially opening Homecoming, Judge Fred R. Wham, a 1905 alumnus, spoke at a special reunion program on Thursday night. Judge Wham picked out five landmarks of the past, which he recommended as guideposts for the future development of the university.

Proceeding the reunion program was a reunion dinner held for some 800 alumni who were honor guests at the reunion program. Then came the big moment—the coronation of the queen. This took place immediately after the reunion program. With music by the university salon orchestra, the capella choir, and the Melrose orchestra, beatles representing one of Southern's past appeared on stage in the costume of their day.

Queen Crowned
To the music of "A Pretty Girl Like a Melody," the Homecoming queen, Delores Sharp of Benton, took the stage preceded by Little Ann Phelps, crown bearer, Anne Smith, cheerleader, and the two attendants, Pat Marlow and Rosalie Skipper. Following the queen was her majesty's court consisting of Bernice Cochran, Maxine Bumpus, Catherine Vengoni, and Mary Ellen Donahue.

With the queen on her throne and robed in the traditional red velvet cloak, Jim Lewis, 1949 football captain, presented the crown and scepter.

The royal party retired to the athletic field where the freshmen burned their green uniforms and accepted the oath officially entering them into Southern's ranks. Two freshmen representatives, Kay Kolisek and Cordwell Joiner, led the procession and ignited the bonfire.

Friday's events began with a special assembly to pep up the team for the big Homecoming game with Eastern. Even the animals showed their loyalty as a dog appeared on the stage during the assembly and yelled right along with the students. Also Friday morning there was a general university open-house when all departments were open for tour.

Alumni Reunion
For alumni, three of the oldest campus organizations—Zetetic and Phi Kappa Phi—held special reunion programs Friday afternoon, with a combined assembly at 3:30 p.m. for students, there was a free show at the Varsity Theatre.

First Community Concert Monday Features Trio

The Columbia Concert Trio will appear in Shryock auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday in the first concert of the season sponsored by the Carbondale Community Concerts association.

One of the highlights of the program will be the ensemble's presentation of a Schubert trio. Also such member of the trio, Richard Gregory, pianist; Ariana Bronne, violinist; and Dorothy Barbour, cellist—will play a group of solos. Included in the solos will be the "Carmen Fantasy" by Sarasate, performed by Miss Bronne; and a Schumann sonata by Mr. Gregory.

The complete program will be made up of two sections of trios, an one section of solos by each performer.

Students will be admitted to the concert by their activity tickets. For the first time, students will be allowed to sit in any part of the auditorium. In the past, students were allowed to sit only in the side sections, but a ruling adopted on a tentative basis last spring opened the concert on a "first come, first served" basis.

Remodeling Begins On Student Center; To Open Winter Term

Repairs and redecorating of the new temporary Student Center are underway, it was announced this week. Carpenters have begun tearing down partitions and in general remodeling the downstairs. Furniture has been ordered for the lounge.

Plans for the downstairs include three big lounges and a joint meeting study room with adjoining kitchenette. Other parts of the building have not been fully planned yet, according to Miss Ruth Haddock, chairman of the Student Center planning committee.

Miss Haddock estimated that the Center should be ready for student use by winter term.

The Center building, located at 901 S. University, formerly belonged to Mrs. Julia Carter-Hale. The university acquired the property last year and Mrs. Hale was to vacate by April 1, 1949. As soon as Mrs. Hale had moved out three weeks ago, remodeling began.

A joint student-faculty committee will meet next week to further plan the Student Center in detail.

Dismiss Friday Classes

School will be dismissed all day tomorrow for the annual meeting of the Southern division of the Illinois Education association. Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president, announced today.

Saturday classes will meet as usual, Dr. Tenney said. Dr. Tenney added that there will be school on Armistice day, Nov. 11.

Southern Plans To Build 423-Bed Girls' Dormitory

Southern will build a 423-bed girls' dormitory and a 60-bed addition to Anthony Hall, it was announced this week. Latest step in the plans was taken Friday when the university's board of trustees, meeting here, signed a contract with the architectural firm of Hooten & Shaffer of Bloomington for drafting architectural plans for the proposed buildings.

The girls' dormitory is scheduled to be built somewhere on Grand ave. One location being considered is between University and the new training school.

The wing to Anthony Hall will be added to the southeast corner making Anthony Hall a U-shape building instead of the present L-shape.

Anthony Hall after being a residence for girls ever since it was built in 1913, may be converted to a boys' dormitory after the girls' dormitory is completed. With the new wing Anthony Hall would have a total capacity of 180.

Boys' Dorm Sidelined
The proposed boys' dormitory has been sidlined by the board for the time being because of the lack of heating tunnels at the proposed site of the dorm.

Estimated cost of building the new girls' dorm and the addition to Anthony Hall is $1,500,000. About one-third of this cost is expected to be supplied by the present state appropriations, according to Board Chairman Gen. Robert W. Davis of Carbondale.

He added that the remainder of the cost would be derived from a special bond issue. The bond issue would be retired by income from operation of the dormitories.

Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president, said the actual cost of living in the dorms would have to be worked out in an arrangement between the bonding firm and yet within the range of the students.

Slightly Higher Rates
The rates at the dormitories will include room and board. Dr. Tenney said the rates probably would be slightly higher than the present rate at Anthony Hall because

Page and 20 Dancers Will Appear Tonight In Auditorium Concert

Ruth Page and Bentley Stone stars of the Chicago Opera Ballet company, will appear with a group of 20 dancers in a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Shryock auditorium, sponsored by the university Entertainments and Lectures committee.

The group is headed by Miss Page, a native of Indianapolis, Ind. She began formal study of dancing when 12, and when she was 15 she attracted the attention of Anna Pavlova, and danced with that star on her last tour of South America. Following this, Miss Page appeared successively in Chicago, London, and on Broadway in New York. She is the only American dancer ever to be a member of the famous Diaghileff Ballet Russe.

Miss Page was the first American guest solo dancer to be engaged for leading roles by the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, and she appeared there for two of its regular winter seasons. Subsequently she made a tour of the Orient and several successful tours of the United States. In 1933, she was made premier danseuse and ballet sector of the Chicago Opera company.

"Dance of the Hours"
The Page-Stone company was formed in 1938. Composed of over 30 dancers, it toured over 4,000 miles in its first season of 40 performances. In 1940 it was the first American ballet company to tour South America. Except for the war years, the company has toured there each year since.

The dancers in the present company are carefully selected from the finest of the Chicago Opera Ballet company. The performance here will include the famous

The three clads, carefully conceived in ads and copy, read "Just the hub of the campus," "You will be delighted at what you find," and "To the left and back."

This was the last in a series of contests awarding free tickets to the person who first figured out the hiding place from clues in the Egyptian. Other winners of the contest were Denzel Berry of Ashley, Forest Moreland of Grand Chain, and James Shaffer of Carbondale.

Completion of Dial Phones Expected In Three Weeks

Installation of about 100 new dial telephones at Southern is expected to start early next week, O. S. Schureman, manager of the Carbondale exchange of the Illinois Commercial Telephone company, said today.

About two weeks will be required to complete the installation job. Schureman said the date for the actual change over to the dial system has not been set, but estimated it would be about three weeks.

Workmen this week were completing "black wiring" from the telephone cables to the telephones. After this is completed, the actual installation of the telephones will begin.

The one bad note in the new dial system is that many of the offices in temporary residences near the campus will have to continue using the present type phone as nearly all the new dial telephones will be placed in permanent buildings.

Party System Eliminated
Under the new dial system, the party system will be eliminated. There will, however, still be extension phones.

Main switchboard for the dial system is located in the university post office in the southeast corner of Parkinson lab. Present plans call for the operator to be on duty at the switchboard.

Those having dial telephones can call another number of the campus by simply dialing a number. (Number assignments are expected to be given out sometime next week.)

In making calls outside the campus, a person will have to go through the main switchboard. All calls coming into the campus from off-campus telephones also will have to go through the main switchboard.

Who's Who Applications Should Be In By Nov. 7

Applications for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" must be turned in to the Student Center by Nov. 7. Bud Loftus, president of the Student Center, announced this week.

Applications may be obtained from the dean's office or the president of the Student Center.

A committee of three faculty and two students will be appointed by the Student Center. This committee will be furnished with the recommendations on qualifications for admittance.

In order to be eligible a person must have at least 96 quarter hours. He must have a grade average of 2.0, and must not have been awarded the honor before. Seniors will be given preference.

AUGUST DIPLOMAS IN!
The Registrar's office announced this week that diplomas for the August graduates have arrived and can be had by calling for them at the office.

"Dance of the Hours," and "Beauty and the Beast," with music by Tchaikovsky.

This is the first attraction on the Entertainments and Lectures committee's schedule for this season. Admission is free and the performance open to the public.

Who Lost The Game?

Three human elements are deeply concerned in the winning of a football game. One is the teams, another the crowd, and the third, the cheer leaders. The team carried the ball during the Homecoming game against Eastern; and although they didn't win, they put their hearts into the game and gave spectators a good show.

Of the other two human elements, we can't say the same. The crowd certainly stayed in the backfield and the cheer leaders downright fumbled. Except for a few spontaneous spurts of cheering when the team was showing signs of winning, the crowd and cheerleaders sat quietly and watched. To most outsiders it would have appeared that the crowd was backing the team only when they were on the enemy's five yard line.

And we can't entirely blame the crowd either for they must be led and encouraged. This is the job of the cheerleaders, who were sadly lacking at this game.

When we elect these officers or a team, we realize it is mostly an honorary position and don't expect too much from them. But when we elect cheerleaders we rather expect them to lead the cheers.

The game started off fine with Southern's initial spurt toward the Eastern goal line. The crowd was enthused and in the spirit of cheering. It was Homecoming and everyone was in gay spirit. The cheerleaders had a golden opportunity for they had a group of spectators in the cheering mood. However, they let the opportunity slip through their fingers. They just didn't catch their signals right.

Several comments were heard about how few times the cheerleaders took the field to stimulate the crowd. There were also comments on the lack of uniformity and precision, in the leading of their yells. We realize that this is only their first Homecoming appearance and also that they were elected about three weeks ago, but confidently, we have seen better, more organized cheerleaders after three week's practice in high schools. Eastern cheerleaders with their smaller cheering section inspired more noise than Southern's.

We'd like to pass a few suggestions that we've overheard, on to the cheerleaders. Why not cheer during timeouts as well as between quarters? The Eastern band made a good cheering section. Why not invite the Southern maroon band to help you lead the crowd in yells? How about some uniformity in motions so that not only you but also the crowd can tell where you are in a yell? And where are the school megaphones? Then, if the crowd doesn't cooperate, at least the leaders could make some noise.

Individually, we have some promising cheerleaders. The manner in which they have led the assembly crowds seems to indicate that they could lead all McAndrew stadium in loud cheers in the same manner.

Doggo's successor, the black and white canine who appeared in last Friday's assembly, lacks none of Doggo's loyalty to Southern. He, too, stood and lustily added his voice to the Alma Mater; and a few minutes later assisted the cheerleaders in leading yells.

Were They Only Repeating Words

Solemn freshmen lifted their right hands and slowly repeated after President Morris the Ephebic oath last Thursday night. This ceremony symbolized their officially becoming students of Southern. Following the pledge, gay frosh threw their green ribbons into the blazing flames of the Pep Rally bonfire and the induction ceremony was over.

But are the freshmen actually aware of what they pledged last Thursday night? Did they stop to think as they said each phrase what they were promising or did they do as students of the past have done, merely repeat, parrot-like, the words the president spoke.

Did you realize that you pledged to protect the honor of Southern by your OWN conduct? Do you remember swearing to leave Southern not less, but better than you found it?

Were you earnest in promising to obey the laws laid down by the state of Illinois, the faculty and student body? Are you sincere in agreeing not to let Southern ever suffer from lack of financial support?

Most of all did you mean what you pledged about not allowing Southern to be abandoned to selfish or partisan purposes? This means not only external partisan groups but also the internal factions on campus. Will you, the class of 1953 really strive to respect Southern's noble traditions and enhance her greatness?

The Ephebic oath is more than just a group of words with proper punctuation marks—it is the code by which each Southern student should live while a part of the student body and as a member of the alumni.

In the silence that occurred during the administering of the Ephebic oath, many upper classmen had occasion to remember when they too had stood with lifted hand and repeated the words. They had time to ask themselves whether or not they had kept their pledge. The Ephebic oath is printed elsewhere on this page for the freshmen to read over again in light of the coming years and for the upper classmen to review in light of their past years at Southern.

The Ephebic Oath

I will try earnestly to protect the honor of Southern, both through my own personal conduct and through my influence upon my fellow student. I will defend and promote the traditions for democracy and freedom of thought and all other noble things for which Southern stands; whether alone or with the help of many. I will strive to leave Southern not less, but greater and better, than I found it. I will render intelligent cooperation to all my superiors, and will obey the established ordinances and whatever laws the people of the State of Illinois, the faculty, or the students shall harmoniously establish. I will not suffer Southern to be abandoned; to selfish or partisan purposes or to suffer for want of financial support, but will defend her moral and physical welfare, whenever it shall be necessary. I will respect her noble traditions, and work always to enhance the true greatness of Southern Illinois University.

Looking For A Room?

Are you looking for a room, apartment, or house to stay in during your four years in college? A student looking for living quarters in or around Carbondale will probably inquire at one or two places—the university housing office and the Free Press. Let's take a look at the Free Press first. There will likely be a long list of rentals including several from surrounding cities.

Glancing down the rental list you will find statements like this: no children, no pets, must have references, must sign year's contract, working couple only, and so forth through the entire group. These requirements have eliminated a large percentage of the college students. However, suppose you are lucky and none of these restrictions affect you. You are off to see the place, say, an apartment.

Three modern rooms described in the paper turn out to be two very small rooms and a kitchen that resembles a closet. There is no sink and you have only the privilege of using the bathroom from four to eight in the evening. For this they may want $50.

Perhaps the Housing office can offer a little more hope, but they can't constantly keep watch over the many small things like this that are continually happening.

What do we do? Maybe we look and look and finally find a decent place to live. Maybe we are forced to put up with the circumstances for the four years that we are here and as a result can never enjoy our college memories. Or, maybe, the college students who are forced to face such situations will join together and form a Housing union. Then as a group we could state the needs and desires of the average student, and as a group refuse to rent from landlords who do not meet these requirements.—S. S.

Well, it looks like Bill Price is here to stay for at least another four years. We noticed his leading the freshman class in their 1-9-5-3 chant at the Bonfire last Thursday night.

Suggestion to the cheerleaders: Why not lead the new yell added to the Southern roster at last week's game. "Hey, Doc, telephone" broke out from the crowd at frequent intervals as the press box tried frantically to get Doc Lingle's attention down on the field.

A stranger brought to the police station for speeding, when asked his name replied that it was Smith.

"Give me your real name," he was ordered.

"Well," said the stranger, "put me down as William Shakespeare."

"That's better," the officer told him. "You can't bluff me with that Smith stuff."

Teacher: Do you know why the little chickens come out of the eggs, Tommy?
Tommy: They know they'd get cooked if they stay inside.

Bridging The Gap

Instructors and faculty at Southern continue to prove that they have an interest in becoming friends with the college students—not only on a professional basis, but also on a "cup of coffee" basis.

The instructor of a history class decided that a good method of becoming acquainted with his students was a tea, with coffee, cakes, and fun as the main requirements. When the students met in the classroom the following Friday they were greatly surprised to hear the instructor say, "I'll check row and then we are dismissed for a tea." The tea turned out to be an easy method of becoming friends and now both students and instructors have a more interesting class period each day.

Another instructor who is fond of cooking special dishes will invite a group of his students out to his house some evening for a stew or Spanish dish. The evening will end in a parade of good feelings with the result that the next day the same students will have carefully prepared their lessons. They have been convinced that a person who can be so friendly and entertaining at home must be equally interesting in class.

Other instructors take their students on hiking trips, wiener roasts, or simply stop to have a cup of coffee with them at the Canteen. There are about as many different methods as there are teachers, but regardless of the method Southern's teachers are truly interested in being friends with their students.—S. S.

Early Action Appreciated

Congratulations are due to university officials for telling the students several days in advance about getting out of school Friday.

In the past the university seems to have made a practice of giving the students "surprises" in the form of a day off. Of course, these "surprises" were not made known until a day—or even a few hours—before the students actually got out of school.

As pleasant as they may have been, the students in the past have had to make some hasty planning in order to get rides to go home or to make arrangements to work. Students lost much time (and even some money) because of the "delayed action" by either the administration or state officials.

This week the administration made known early in the week not only the fact that there would be NO school Friday, but that there WOULD BE school Nov. 11 (Armistice Day).

Although school officials know Nov. 11 comes every year, in the past they often have failed to announce whether there will be school until the day before.

We feel sure that the students appreciate the early announcement of school or no school and hope the administration continues to make the early announcements in the future.—B. H.

Here's the Answer

Mail your question along with your name and address to Gene Flowers, Egyptian.

Question:

Why are students charged a dollar for having their pictures taken for the yearbook, and isn't it true that many universities include this charge in their activity fee?

Jack Murphy
Herrin

Answer:

While many students wonder why they are charged, they also wonder why the photo lab cannot do the job just as well as Nauman studio, 703 S. Illinois.

The main reason is because the photo lab hasn't the necessary time. Besides taking pictures of the freshmen during registration week, they also take various pictures for the Obelisk, Egyptian, and other departments with extra curricular activities. Nauman studio works from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day the first five weeks of school taking class pictures alone; therefore, the photo lab not only hasn't this much time, but they haven't the necessary funds and facilities for such a job.

Southern Exposure

By Harry Reinert

We're not sure whether it was due to President Morris' moving the date up one week from the one Dr. Alexander originally chose, or just that the odds were in our favor, or whether it was due to the optimistic forecasts voiced around campus, but at least it didn't rain last Saturday. Of course, there were enough showers Friday to frustrate the attempts of the students in the various organized houses who were trying to get their house decorations up in time.

We hear that back in the days when Southern was hardly under full steam there was another clear day for Homecoming. Of course, Homecoming didn't include a football game then. But there was a lancing trophy held on the field that is now McAndrew stadium. A certain black knight—a Southern alum—stole the show that day. An Englishman named Scott dressed up the story, changed the locale, and it's been a best-seller ever since.

Speaking of knights, after we took one look at the knight and Maroon pictured in last week's Egyptian, we wish to back up a few weeks and swallow some words. We mentioned that perhaps a real Maroon could be found and used as Southern's emblem. Well, they've found one, but after that first glance, we feel very strongly that the knight should be adopted for Southern, and the Maroon allowed to go back to the woods. There seem to be quite a few students on campus who favor the knight over the maroon—as a matter of fact, the knight was used in the winning house decoration by the Chi Delta. The castle in the background of the picture of the knight could very easily be the tower of Old Science. (Ed. Note: We also noticed one float in the parade which used a maroon.)

Getting back to Homecoming, we wish to wish our hats to Miss Roach and her stage decoration crew. The stage setting for the queen's coronation was one of the most beautiful we've ever seen, or ever hope to see, on this campus. Freddy Martin commented that the gym decorations for the Homecoming dance looked like a movie set—and they did. It was really a wonderful job.

It appears that the bands get better as we go along. After each of the previous dances where name bands were booked, there was a considerable amount of griping because the band played too fast and/or too loud. But it seems that Freddy Martin hit it just right.

Fashion note: Large groups of geese passed over the campus heading north the first of the week, so it seems that it's about time to dig out the long handles.

(Editor's Corner: Last week at the Associated College Press convention at Detroit, Southern delegates heard Chas. F. (Boss) Kettering of General Motors speak. One of his outstanding remarks was that nowadays a columnist, to be good must have had a great tragedy in his life. We decided that the only tragedy in the life of the author of this column is the fact that he is a columnist.)

Well, 'pun my word: Queen Dolores Sharp reigned over Homecoming, but thank goodness the weather didn't.

At one time during the game last Saturday, the scoreboard read Eastern 65, Southern 13. We knew we weren't winning, but didn't realize they were running away with us that much.

During one ball session about the maroon-knight question, someone came up with this suggestion: Why not compromise and put the maroon in armor?

Congratulations to the Southern Maroon band for a fine performance at the game Saturday! We heard several comment that the University band was about the best they had seen take the field.

JOHNSON'S CO-OP MAKES PLANS FOR OPEN HOUSE

Plans are under way for an open house at Johnson's Co-op in the near future. Committees for the event are to be appointed this week.

ABOUT 40 ATTENDS KAPPA DELTA ALPHA BANQUET

Kappa Delta Alpha welcomed back several old faces at their annual Homecoming banquet held Saturday evening at the YVFW hall. The banquet, under the chairmanship of Chuck Elliot and Jack Mawdsley, was attended by approximately 40 alumni.

Through the hard work of Dick Volwald, Jerry Hensley, Jack Norman Jack Mawdsley, and Bill Reliance, Homecoming decorations were erected on time in spite of the weather.

Two members of the fraternity, Luther Antoline and Lou Diamond, escaped serious injury on Friday night when the car in which they were riding slid off the pavement near Marion. Both received cuts and bruises.

Several KDA men took part in the selling of Homecoming programs at the football game Saturday afternoon.

Sunday, the Alumni committee held a meeting at the KDA house. Twelve members were present. Chairman Winkelmeyer was in charge.

An informal intermission smoke was held during the break in the Homecoming dance Saturday night. Punch was served.

The pledges took a night off on Monday and ran out with the Pi Kappa phox. They had an informal get together at the Lyman hotel in Herrin.

Dave Richmond was commended for his leadership in bringing the Chi Delta their third straight first place cup for house decorations.

The pledges, meanwhile brought home a second place honor in the float division.

First of a series of SCF Day meetings was presented by Student Christian foundation members in the First Methodist church of Carbondale Sunday afternoon. Six university students took part in the program. They were: Ruth Hallerman, RDA McClure, Mel Milgate, Byrl Sims, Harrell Melton, Norman Armstrong, and Bill McIntosh.

Similar meetings will be held in the First Presbyterian church and Grace Methodist church of Carbondale.

Alumni attended the meeting of the Saturday Night Supper club at the Student-Christian foundation were Carroll Loomis, who is now attending University of Illinois, and Don Hecker, now working in St. Louis. There were 20 members in attendance.

Special recognition, in the form of a strawberry sundae, was given to Byrl Sims and Melvin Milgate for work done on cup-winning house decorations at SCF.

Freshman club of the Student Christian foundation will meet with Dr. C. Horton Talley, chairman of speech department, this week. Members will discuss with him questions concerning religion versus college. Some of the questions are: How does a person's religious work help him in college? How does college life help in religious beliefs? How can students get to know their instructors better? What value is there in knowing the instructors?

Last week the club met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Necker.

Theme for next week's chapel is Christian Vocations. Two of the speakers will be Harold Grob of Grob Motor Sales, Murphysboro, and Dr. Elbert H. Hadley, of chemistry department. They will speak on christian vocations for a businessman and christian vocations for a teacher.

Southern Studies Economic Problems Of Local Area

Southern Illinois University is giving consideration to ways and means by which it can aid in solving the economic problems of Southern Illinois, President D. W. Morris revealed here last week in an address before the southeastern division of the Illinois Education Association.

Dr. Morris said the university like to undertake an attack on the area's economic situation on five fronts—through research, a broad industrial and technical training program, a comprehensive area service consultative program, development of self-reliant attitudes, and encouragement for new industries to locate in the area.

"Of course we don't have the funds for such a program now," he said, "but we believe that a large scale concentration attack of this kind could within 10 or 15 years make a substantial reduction in the relief rolls of the Southern 21 counties of the state, which now amount to $2 million dollars per month."

He asked the school administrators and teachers to study the possibilities of such a program and to advise the university as to opportunities for cooperation in such a plan should it become a reality.

Morris Outlines Problem In his address President Morris outlined the problems and the prospects of education in Southern Illinois.

He listed as problems the need for adequate financial support for buildings, staff and curricular programs; the need for an adequate supply of trained personnel; the difficult matter of transportation of pupils from outlying, sparsely settled areas; and inadequate tax bases in various parts of the region.

Among the prospects he called attention to (1) increased appropriations for the public schools this year, (2) an increasing awareness of Southern Illinois needs on the part of the State, (3) increased facilities for teacher-education at Southern Illinois University which will contribute larger numbers of better trained personnel, (4) a growing awareness of the linkage between relief rolls and inadequate educational opportunities, (5) better facilities for recreation, physical education and health education, and (6) the opportunities which are afforded for improvement of Southern Illinois education through the council of 100, recently established, composed of laymen and educators from each of the southern 21 counties, plus three IEA officials and four representatives from the university.

Rev. Roth To Speak At Baptist Reception

Northern Baptist students on campus will have a reception in the Student Christian Foundation lounge from 2 to 4 p. m. Nov. 3, Rev. Leland M. Roth, director of Christian education for Illinois Baptist State convention. Rev. Roth is also in charge of youth work in Illinois for the Northern Baptist and is director of their three summer youth camps.

Following the reception at 4:30, Rev. Roth will talk to the students about the Baptist program in Illinois and will present information about the annual Illinois Baptist student convention which will hold its conference at Shortleiff college in autumn. Also he will speak at noon chapel at the Foundation on Christian vocations.

Rev. Roth received his B. D. degree from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and his M. A. degree in education from the University of Pennsylvania.

Committee in charge of the reception will include Mrs. W. B. Welch, Warren Stooke, and Doris Lodge.

Joiner Burns Hand While Holding Torch At Fresh Bonfire

Cordwell Joiner, freshman from Anna, received painful third degree burns on his right hand at the bonfire following the coronation ceremony last Thursday night. He was hospitalized for one night and later returned to his home in Anna.

He resumed school this week, but still has very little use of his right hand.

The accident occurred when Joiner brought to light here last Saturday by Dr. Richard Beyer of Erie, Penn., former professor of history at Southern, who addressed the Southern Illinois Historical society at its annual dinner, held at the university campus as part of the school's three-day Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Dr. Beyer pointed out that the dinner "celebrated two birthdays, Southern's 75th, and the Southern Illinois Historical society's 10th birthday."

He recounted the founding of the society 10 years ago on Nov. 10, 1939, when 85 Southern Illinois people from 17 different towns responded to the invitation of a group of university history department faculty members to a meeting to organize the new society.

Close Relationship He cited the close relationship which has existed between the University and the society, calling attention to the fact that since its founding 75 years ago the University has collected the lore of Southern Illinois in its library and its museum; that the faculty members, students and alumni of the school have been among the most active members of the society; that the two institutions "are the greatest cultural forces operating in Southern Illinois today."

In paying tribute to the 75-year-old school, where he was a faculty member for 16 years, Dr. Beyer outlined a number of "significant things for which Southern is renowned."

"It is distinguished for the thorough type of training which it has always given," he said. "In its opening summer institute in 1874, the curriculum was what might be called a 'refresher course' in drill subjects for men and women who would be teaching these subjects the next fall. The work was not of college level, as we think of it today, but gradually the public schools of Southern Illinois raised their standards, and college-level work was made possible at Southern."

Praises Shryock "This school was renowned for the fine balance between courses in education and subject matter courses," he declared, and termed Dr. Henry W. Shryock, president from 1913 to 1935, "a man who stands as a shining star in Southern Illinois education" in his emphasis on the teacher's knowl-

SIU Once Suggested As Institute For Feeble-minded, Says Beyer

Only a few years after Southern opened its doors, a bill was introduced in the Illinois legislature to discard its educational assets and convert it into an institution for the feeble-minded.

In the same session, a bill was introduced to transfer Southern's sister institution, Illinois State Normal university, into an institution for the criminally insane.

These were two bits of history brought to light here last Saturday by Dr. Richard Beyer of Erie, Penn., former professor of history at Southern, who addressed the Southern Illinois Historical society at its annual dinner, held at the university campus as part of the school's three-day Diamond Jubilee celebration.

of Trustees and their wives at Anthony Hall Friday evening at 6:30, Dr. Richard L. Beyer of Erie, Pa., addressed the Southern Illinois Historical society, an organization which he founded. Beginning at 6:30 Friday evening all house decorations were judged. The results were announced at Saturday's game, and were as follows: Class A—Chi Delta Chi fraternity, first; Nu Epsilon Alpha, second; and Delta Sigma Epsilon, honorable mention. Class B—Johnnie's Co-Op, first; Student Club and Foundation, second; and Day's dormitory, honorable mention.

"The Male Animal" The curtain went up Friday night on the Homecoming play, "The Male Animal," presented by the Little Theatre. Following the play, the Little Theatre held reception on the auditorium stage for former members. Homecoming got into full swing as Saturday rolled around. In the first place, there were reunion breakfasts, luncheons, teas, and banquets of various organizations throughout the day. Early in the morning, the Women's Athletic Association met the alumni in the annual women's hockey game, which ended in a tie.

At 10:30 a. m. was the unveiling of the memorial plaque in honor of the late Gen. William McAndrew, once coach and athletic director at Southern.

Big Homecoming Parade Then came the elaborate Homecoming parade, perhaps the biggest one in the history of the school. There was a total of 12 bands and approximately 60 floats participating in the gala affair, plus several organizational stunts. Amidst applauding and shouts of "Hooray for the parade" it set its way through a record crowd downtown.

During the parade the floats and stunts were judged. At the half of the Homecoming game the results of the parade were announced as follows: Class A floats—Industrial Education, first; Chi Delta Chi fraternity, second; and Pi Kappa Sigma sorority, honorable mention. Class B—Kappa Phi Kappa, educational group, first; Agriculture club, second; and Art club, honorable mention. Stunts—La Casa Manana, first; Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, second; and Dick Hinley, honorable mention.

With the handing of the football to the officials by the Diamond Jubilee Queen, Delores Sharp, the Southern Maroons began the game against Eastern. Although the Maroons lost the game, spirits were still high for the rest of the Homecoming events. Immediately after the game, an informal open house for all alumni was held at Anthony Hall.

Homecoming activities reached their climax Saturday night with the concert and dance with music by Freddy Martin and his orchestra. An overflowing crowd flocked to the beautifully decorated gym to dance to Freddy Martin's music. Thus ended Southern's great Diamond Jubilee Homecoming.

Now, he is confident about his future and security. As a pilot and legal officer of Bolling Air Force Base, D. C., Major Ed Wall is a typical U. S. Air Force flying executive . . . with a challenging career.

If you are single, between the ages of 17 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training as an Aviator Cadet. If you do not complete Aviator Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train at Officer Candidate School for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Maroons Discover That Defense Is Best Offense In 26-13 Loss to Panthers

The sun was shining brightly when the Southern Illinois Maroons took the field against Eastern last Saturday afternoon, but old Sol had taken to the clouds when these same Maroons took from McAndrew stadium, victims of a 26-13 Homecoming defeat at the hands of the same Panthers before 10,700 spectators. The clouds helped to add a gloomy note on Southern's fifth straight loss of the season and their second conference setback.

The Maroons got off to a good start, and were finishing strong between the 10 and 15 minutes when the final gun sounded. Southern took the opening kickoff and Don Riggs brought the ball to the Southern 37. A sustained drive with the ball on the Eastern 6, where Bob Brown punted into the end zone. Eastern, however, fumbled on the first play, Jim Lovin recovering. It was then Southern's ball on the Eastern 22, and they drove fever caught hold of the screaming Homecoming crowd.

Wayne running plays by Organ and Oyster and a Riggs to Colborn pass set the pigskin on the 4 yard line with 3 downs remaining and a look as though Southern would draw blood first. The Eastern line stymied the attack, however, as a group filled the stadium with gasps.

Eastern then punted to their own 45, but Organ dropped the ball on Eastern recovered. The teams then exchanged punts and Eastern ended up with the first touchdown of the game after a 47 yard march. The Panthers scored on an off-tackle smash after a series of pass plays found him in the end zone and the Maroons were in the Eastern secondary. The try for the extra point was wide.

Johnny Organ intercepted a pass to start the Maroons' drive which featured the passing of freshman Bill Garrett. Warren no one was open picked up nice yardage on the ground. He finally hit Bob Colborn in the end zone for Southern's first score. Karllyn Crews booted his fourth straight extra point this year, and Southern led 7-6.

The Panthers found time to get a passing attack going, however, and a screen pass from a rifleman fellow by the name of Loppin to Henderson ended in Eastern's second touchdown. The extra point still the uprisings to make the score read 13-7 Eastern at halftime.

Eastern fumbled Crews' kickoff to start the half, and Southern recovered after a big pile-up. Chuck Oyster pitched a pass in the first quarter, and then three beautiful long ones to Chuck Hent, who came up with the ball and crossed the goal-line for Southern's second score. Crews' try for the extra point was wide. Southern had tied the score, 13-13.

Meet The Maroons

BOB COLBORN

When you sift through the athletic laurels of Bob Colborn, you wonder how he does it. Like Old Man River, "he just keeps rolling along." Without a doubt, Bob Colborn, one of Southern's all-time greats, seems to improve with age. Bob is currently enjoying his fourth season on the Southern football team, his most valuable member of the team.

Bob Colborn is one of those fellows that needs no introduction. He is a player who has been named to All-Conference teams three years in a row; was voted "Most Valuable" by his football teammates in 1947; was captain of last year's basketball team; and scored over 100 points, though he could hardly run as a result of his football injury.

FEATURE: RAIN NO OBSTACLE IN BOSS

Last Saturday's Homecoming game with Eastern proved two things. Number one—Southern has got a passing attack. Number two—Southern's new white jerseys set them off as one of the better dressed teams in the conference, if not the best.

GINGERSNAPS By Dolan Ginger

Last week our number one prediction that the Michigan Wolverines would return to farm and down Minnesota to show they haven't lost their winning touch was right on the button as Ottomann ran wild. The score was 14 to 7 and the Wolves were knocking at the door at the final gun.

Army's Cadets put on quite a show against Columbia as they scored in the first 46 seconds of play and did not let the clouds help to add a gloomy note on Southern's fifth straight loss of the season and their second conference setback.

The Illinois took the Big Ten lead by beating Purdue 19 to 0. Southern Methodist took undefeated Kentucky 20 to 7 while SMU was Doublet. The last football game we'll mention today received our Tar Heel from Dale Houghland down at Chapel Hill. Anyway with Mr. Justice scoring its only TD, North Carolina lost to Louisiana State 14 to 7, Saturday night.

Neve Dams will meet a strong contender—Michigan State for the strongest lead-out in the Middle West next Saturday.

Locally, the high school setup is getting rather confusing. Two of the best players on the team were made in Friday's game. One was a return kick by Herrin and the other a 28-yard field goal by the Bulldogs. The final score was 19 to 10 in favor of the Tigers—upset, but a mild one.

Johnston City and Eldorado are the only undefeated high school teams in the Southern Illinois area. Johnston City earned that distinction by defeating the South-Western conference leader, Murphysboro 22 to 14.

George (ACE) Baysinger, quarterback member of the Corn Belt champs in 1947, was coach of the team at McAndrew Stadium last week.

We asked Jim Lovin if his team had been changed from PE to football after his little talk to the students last Thursday morning.

Congrats to Colborn, Garrett, Riggs, Hent, and Oyster who played a wonderful game Saturday. While we're in congratulating would we like to pay special tribute to the cross country coach, Mr. McLaughlin, Phil Coleman, Ray Palmer and Co. Wonder where Dago went to?

EX-CELTIC STAR CHUCK TAYLOR GIVES EXHIBITION

Chuck Taylor, one of the Original Boston Celtics who served in an unofficial capacity as ambassador of basketball gave an exhibition on the rudiments of the sport before approximately 700 players, coaches and fans at the Southern gymnasium on Wednesday night.

Taylor, who is a representative of the Converse Rubber company was sponsored by Varsity Sports Mart. Ten members of the '49-50 Cape squad participated in the explanation of various types of offense and defense.

Sport Thrills At Homecoming

Top—Carolyn Crews of Southern boots the extra point that puts the Maroons ahead 7-6.

Middle—John VanderPlum hauls in a pass as Jerry Curtis, Panther fullback prepares to nail him. No. 24 is Herb Cummins.

Bottom—The start of the 3 1/2 minute extra point ceremony by Southern against Normal. Second from left is Joe McLaughlin, individual IAC champ who took another first.

Unbeaten Bees Surmount Halftime Deficit, Whip Cape 20-13

The "B" squad did it again! Overcoming a 14 point deficit at half-time, the junior varsity stormed back with 3 second-half touchdowns to down a stubborn Cape Girardeau 20-14, at Houchens Stadium last Monday. Harold Call's 65 yard touchdown jaunt re-instilled the scoring spirit in Jim Willinson's boys, and when the final gun sounded, the junior Maroons had scored their third straight victory of the year.

Call was brought down from the Varsity squad to show something of his old vigor and drive, and scored something he did, scoring two touchdowns, and setting up another. Although he played a rather mediocre first half, his play in the third and fourth quarters left little to be desired. In all, he gained 138 yards from scrimmage in 15 tries.

Indian's Tale Lead Cape jumped off to an early lead when they scored on a touchdown passes of 20 and 30 yards before the first quarter was nine minutes old. Things looked rather bleak indeed, the Maroons played scoreless half in the second quarter to trail, 14-0 at halftime.

The second half was a different story, however, as the offense, paced by Call, VanderPlum and Simpson took on a new life. The defensive play, too, took on its "old look," and things began to look brighter. Midway in the third period, Call took a pass from Simpson, faked to VanderPlum, and paced 65 yards untouched to pay-dirt for Southern's first touchdown.

Karllyn Crews added the extra point from placement, and the score read, 14-7, Cape.

Cape offensive operations were held at a standstill, with Wolf, Goodman, Mann and Martin plugging up holes quickly. Riggs didn't make a first down in the third quarter and punted frequently on second and third down, hoping to catch the Maroons in their own territory. However, John VanderPlum's consistently long run-backs of Cape punts helped.

WOMEN'S SPORTS SQUITS by Mildred Schmitt

Hockey seems to be the world in the line of sports in the Women's gym these days. The 1-1 result of the Varsity vs. Alum game last Saturday was certainly an unexpected upset. In the past, the varsity has always been able to come out on top. Let Alberts make the only goal for the Southern, while Joy Levin was given credit for the Alum's goal.

After the game a brunch was served to approximately 68 people, of whom 32 were alum representing years from 1928 to 1948.

Vets Pace Drills In Third Week Of Cage Practice

About two weeks ago, 12 veteran basketball men and a host of newcomers donned practice clothes and began preparing for the coming hardwood season. Of these 12 veterans, one is a first-timer at Southern. David Davis is a transfer student from Murray State Teachers college, Murray Ky.

Coach Lynn C. Holden is just turning the boys through the usual offensive and defensive plays at present, but he plans to scrimmage a half game tomorrow. He also plans to have a practice game between the varsity and the freshmen sometime next week. To give some idea of what Coach Holden has to work with this year in the way of height and experience here are the ball-bouncing lads by position.

Riggs Tops Team In Total Offense;

With the first five games behind us, Don Riggs, fullback from Springfield leads the team in total offense with a net yard of 375 yards. He's made 252 of those yards on the ground and 123 in the air. Second in line is Bob Colborn who has amassed 304 yards, all of them by pass receiving.

The top passer is another Fairfield boy, Bill Garrett. Bill tossed 33 passes and completed 15 for a 206 yard net gain. Garrett has only been in the lineup since the Indiana State game too. Fred Brensel of Staunton is the punting leader having kicked the ball 16 times for a 601 yard total and a 35.5 average.

The Maroons have made 55 first downs, 25 by rushing, 22 by passing. Their net gain for total offense is 906 yards in 331 tries. Our opponents have picked up 1567 yards against in 322 tries.

Offense Geared DeKalb Southern's foe Here Sat.

Glenn Abe Martin and his victorious Maroons will face one of the toughest foes of the IIA conference next Saturday at McAndrew Stadium. The Huskies have a season record of five wins and one loss. Their only loss was to Western Illinois, a conference game, 26-7.

Following the Homecoming extra counter the Maroons will be in good shape to throw a scare into the title contenders. So far no injuries have plagued the Maroons, but a scare was thrown in the Southern crowd when Captain Jim Lovin had to retire from the game because of a knee injury. He shook it off and returned to the lineup next quarter. Also Don Dux re-hurt an old knee injury that has reoccurred throughout his football career.

The Huskies played the role of spoilers last Saturday as they garred Illinois Wesleyan's homecoming in crushing the Titans 47-25. Offensively they stuck up a 26-7 victory over the Maroons last year. He's not playing this year, but he's been tutoring the Huskie quarterbacks in the fine art of aerial offense.

Standouts in the line are chunky Bob Vidim of Chicago and Captain Bob Fowle senior center from Udon. Bob Heimendinger of Riverton, Mo. Heimendinger of Riverton, Mo.

A Fine Game

The grid wizard, Bob Zuppke of Illinois, once said, "Football is still a great kicking game. The fans don't like the kicking at $3 a seat." Certainly there should have been no kicks coming at the Homecoming game last Saturday—the fans saw good football. The Maroons and Panthers rolled on an even keel offensively until an 88 yard run by Crum threw all the ballast to Eastern. Both teams had good passing attacks... the difference was that the Eastern backs had poor pass protection while the Easterners had enough time for a hand of cribbage... Southern's backs all looked good. Don Riggs hit the 5 hole for consistent gains despite the fact there was no fear for him most of the time... and can he block! Abe Martin took the wraps off sophomore back Bob Brown... every run he made looked like a TD run... maybe he's the successor to "Bone" Sawyer as a broken field runner. Cooley and Organ also picked 'em up and laid 'em down. They made some natural mistakes on defense, but who didn't?

... This week's skirmish with Northern will be no tea and crumpet party... Northern Huskies live up to their nickname... they play it rough.

Somebody once remarked, "A football coach is responsible to an irresponsible public." Once again the Southern fans failed to grasp the meaning of the word 'cheer'. The school spirit here is at such low ebb that we'd like to submit the name Commuters as the nickname of the Southern athletic teams. The fans' reaction to sports here is indicative of so many of the commuters who in plain words, don't give a damn what happens here on the campus... Our Maroon player remarked that when he came out for the second half he thought the game was over and the fans had left.

Dots and Dashes Bob Colborn is second in total offense on the team with 300 yards to his credit. He has caught 29, one for a touchdown. This should put him right under the nation's top ten in pass receiving. The new press and radio booth which received its baptism under fire Saturday, is alright but we understand it is a substitute for a proposed $10,000 booth which was supposed to have gone into construction. (There is nothing like a mansion with burlap carpets!)

The Maroons have it... Several of the yearlings again showed their stuff; players like Svitile, Bruno, Wangelin, Henton and Brown are just a few who will fit into future plans... 14, certainly, our lost boy, Bob Neal has been found... he was last seen at Duke.
